Crossrail's 2014 Technical Papers Competition Winner's Presentations

This is an open event where authors from three of the winning entries in the annual Crossrail Technical Papers Competition will present their papers.

The presentations will be on tunnelling and geotechnical associated topics relating to recent Crossrail construction.

The Technical Papers Competition runs annually and is open to all organisations currently or previously involved in the project, including designers, contractors, joint ventures and those working for Crossrail Limited. It has an open engineering theme and previous presentation have been from papers on geotechnical, underground construction, civil and structural engineering subjects.
